

Audriga - Your e-mail migration service

Together with our partner Audriga, we offer you a migration service for your mailboxes. Audriga is a service that specializes in the moving of accounts between providers and will handle all matters around the transfer of your data.

Accessing this service is very easy: Go to your mailbox.org Office menu and select Settings mailbox.org Moving service. The process itself is explained in detail on the page.

Using audriga, it is possible to move

- IMAP or POP3 mailboxes hosted at any major e-mail provider;
- Mailboxes, address books, task lists, and calendars hosted at any provider using OpenExchange.

There is a charge of 3.00 € per mailbox for the moving service. This will be deducted from your mailbox.org account balance.

If you prefer to move your data manually instead, have a look at the knowledge base article about Do-It-Yourself Migration.

Please note, that the transfer service is offered by the company audriga GmbH. You should only buy this service, if you agree with the Terms of Service of audriga.

The moving service is informing you about the estimated duration of the move, start and end of the move via automated status emails and duplicates of emails, calendars, contacts and tasks.

A voucher for the transfer can be ordered here for only 3€. A voucher is valid for a transfer from one account to mailbox.org. The fee is automatically subtracted from your mailbox.org account. Please make sure to have enough credit on your balance. After your order, you'll receive the voucher and a link to the transfer service via an email to your mailbox.org-account.

Audriga is officially supporting a move to mailbox.org from the following providers:

- 1&1
- domainFACTORY
- GMX (gmx.de/.net/.at/.ch)
- Google Mail
- T-Online
- Host Europe
- Strato
- Web.de

Transfers of data from other providers may work as well, but these are untested and cannot officially be supported by us.
